aged upon the jury which is trying the ex-ministers by R. A. Bonnar, K. C., senior crown counsel, who began to address this afternoon in the thirty-fourth day of the trial. Mr. Bonnar spoke for three hours and will continue tomorrow morning. He reviewed briefly Horwood's evidence and alleged that he was a tool of the accused and "unstained and unsmiled" before he fell into their hands.

Crown counsel declared that Horwood was not let into "all the secrets campaign funds, and even that made "the accused guilty." "I am going to submit," said Mr. Bonnar, "that while there may have been some campaign fund, yet there was a great deal worse. I dare say about $200,000 was for campaign funds, but I am going to

On the caissons alone Mr. Bonnar claimed there was a total of $694,630

... said an arrangement was made among Mr. Goldwell, Dr. R. M. Simpson and Horwood, that Simpson would be paid $100,000 from the easements. From the north wing steel contract there was an illegitimate profit of $155,000, and from the south wing grilles, of $100,000. Simpson also was paid $100,000 for the added steel superstructure work which had been included in the destroyed $302,000 dome contract. Had the accused been honest they would have been paid $100,000 each. Simpson's Kelly contract, counsel submitted, when they learned that the south wing contract as originally made would not be justified by the steel in the dome, they agreed to increase Horwood's salary and they "drew closer to Kelly."

Mr. Bonnar proceeded to deal with what he called the suggestions to Horwood that he would be paid $25,000 "keep his mouth shut." He said $5,000 of the $10,000 which was sent to Wm. Salt through M. G. Hook was paid on a cheque of James H. Howen's and the other $5,300, he asserted, came from Mr. Coldwell.

FANS NOT EXCITED OVER LABOR DAY BOXING CARD

Bout Between Chaney and Kilbane Appears to be Most Attractive. Welsh is Heavy Favorite Over Charley White in Twenty-round Contest in Denver—Welsh's First Long Bout Since He Won the Title.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Ordinarily Labor Day sees the beginning of the season for boxers in the United States. And ordinarily there are several good fights on for the fans.

While this year is not an exception to the rule, it is true that the fight billed for next Monday has created only passing interest, and despite the fact that at least three champions will be seen in action, something unimpressive happens, the public has refused to become very excited over the bills.

Colorado Springs, Freddie Welsh, the lightweight king, is carded to defend his title for the first time since he won it from Willie Ritchie in a twenty round bout. He will take on Charley White, the prize of Chicago.

At Colorado Springs, John Kilbane, the featherweight champion, will meet with his opponent in the main event, the light heavyweight champion, will go against him in the main event, the light heavyweight champion, will go against him in the main event.

The One Feature.
Of all these bouts there is only one that stands out. The bout between Chaney and Kilbane probably will be the feature of the day's fighting. A huge crowd is expected to see the fight.

Chaney, who is a former champion, will have a large, if not larger, audience than his opponent, who is a former champion.

Kilbane, by virtue of his standing as a champion, naturally has been made the main event of the day.

Methods for Successfully Growing Alfalfa in Alberta

Based Upon Tests Conducted at the Lethbridge and Lacombe Experimental Stations—Importance of Crop as Soil Enricher. Inoculation Help to Cultivation—Selection of Seed.

While the production of alfalfa has been increasing rapidly during the past few years in Alberta, there is an ever-increasing demand for information in regard to the cultivation of this crop. The suggestions here offered are to the cultural methods like those of the Lethbridge and Lacombe experimental stations as well as upon observations of the alfalfa in various parts of the province. The soil and climate of the settled portions of Alberta are represented by the stations at which the work has been done as closely as any two points can represent these somewhat varying conditions and the results secured should be of value as an indication of what may be expected in other parts. As an indication of the extent shown in the cultivation of alfalfa, it may be stated that the last year over seven hundred farmers were supplied for and received inoculated seed for the purpose of better alfalfa growing during the first year or two it was distributed and now reporting on the results obtained and not more than one per cent of the farmers in their opinion, alfalfa cannot be grown in the province, while in other portions of the province, where it is abundant, it is secured, some men report in sufficient quantities to supply their partial failure to the fact that the seed used was of inferior variety.

Adaptability to Climate. Alfalfa is being grown commercially in the Lethbridge district to the extent of several hundred acres, and irrigation and successfully grown in practically all the other parts of the province. By the aid of irrigation, the yield is very much increased. In the dry districts of the province, alfalfa will probably not be grown, though the tonnage is very much less, than in the irrigated areas. However, it has been found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted.

Location. Select land that is well drained, i.e., in which there are no depressions to collect and hold water. In the case of wet or swampy land that is high and exposed, but that is not so well drained, the alfalfa should be planted in the low ground water never be nearer the surface than the level of the feet at any time during the year. This is quite important. If the soil is not so well drained, the alfalfa will not be able to grow. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted.

Cutting and Curing. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted.

Supplies. An alfalfa farmer needs very nutritious hay, being particularly rich in nitrogenous or food-producing elements, and as it yields heavily, it might be expected to impoverish the soil. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted.

Life of Alfalfa. In districts where the plant thrives, it may live for twenty years or more. The writers have been able to find a number of alfalfa fields that have been in use for twenty years or more. It is found that alfalfa can be grown in the province, even in the most arid portions of the province, as demonstrated by the wonderful diversity of climate to which it is adapted.

Nothing is lacking. The entire population congregates on the station platform to see the trains come in. The freight is piled high in the open air; the passenger cars are full of people. It is a remarkable development.

Collieries West of Edmonton

In addition to the mines noted on the sketch, another one is now in operation at Brule Lake, twelve miles east of Jasper Park Collieries, on the C.N.R. The Yellowhead mines have ceased working for some time. This is a bituminous coal area.

PRICE OF LUMP COAL HAS BEEN RAISED SEPT. 1

Advanced to $4.25—Increase Applies to Edmonton Collieries Except Morinville

Coal was advanced yesterday 25c per ton, bringing the price to $4.25 for all lump sold from the collieries in the Edmonton district, with the exception of those in the Morinville district. The rise must have been expected from what has appeared in these columns regarding conditions in the labor market, and the increasing cost of supplies required for the prosecution of the industry.

Not far from $4.00. There is, however, no prospect, according to a number of the operators, with whom the situation was canvassed of the price going to $4.50 even in the depth of winter. It may spread as far as $4.50, but that is not as the limit, not only by one, but several mine managers.

"I think it is altogether improbable," said one of them, "that it will be raised to more than that, and when I say that I am speaking for the legitimate operators. Even if circumstances were extreme, going to $4.50 would be taken an unfair advantage of the public. I do not expect ever to sell coal at that figure."

Plenty of Orders. All the offices report good business this week, indeed, generally there were more orders than could be filled as quickly as the givers wanted. Out-of-town business continues brisk, and city orders are coming in more rapidly than is usually the experience at this early stage of the season. People have become alive to the probable shortage of the supply, and no doubt the rather cold weather of the week has made them more disposed to thinking of stocking up.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—Skookum Jim Madon, an Indian, who with George Carmack, of Seattle, discovered the Klondike gold field twenty years ago, died in poverty recently at Carcross, Yukon territory, it was learned today. At one time he had $100,000 in cash, nearly all of which he squandered. On a visit to Seattle he threw money from his hotel window to see how much it fell in the street.

ARRANGEMENTS TO WORK WHITE STAR

A. C. White and Patrick Conway have entered into an agreement for an operation during the season of the White Star coal mine at Ellerslie, La. This colliery was worked by the White Star Company. It is one of the oldest on the south side of the river and has been supplying the market that end of the city for the past ten years. The probable output, says Mr. White, is from 40 to 100 tons. It is good hard lignite coal and is considered one of the best grades in the Edmonton coal fields.

NEARLY 20,000 HARVESTERS IN ALTA'S FIELDS

Provincial Dept. Has Placed 8,000 Hands—Soldiers Furnish 8,000—Easterners Coming

The special rates for harvesters to points in the province from Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge over the several railways expired Friday, the end of August being the limit fixed for their operation, and as the department of agriculture had been able to fill all the orders received to date it was considered the 30 days was sufficient to distribute the local supply.

"We estimate," said C. K. Hitchcock, chief publicity commissioner, this morning, "we have been able to place about 8,000 in all parts of Alberta, one thousand each coming from British Columbia, the northern section of the province, the south and east, and from the larger cities. In addition there were some 8,000 soldiers. We expect to receive about 2,000 from the eastern portion of the country in about two weeks. So far we have had just a few from there, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, gathering in most of the early help."

Mr. Hitchcock mentioned that the weather in the southern section of the province was fine and that harvesting in those areas were full swing. "The people are very optimistic," said he, "as to their ability to harvest the great crop in that end of Alberta, and they could be almost certain to be very good."

CHINESE EMPLOYED TO HELP OUT MINE SUPPLY OF LABOR

Between Fifty and Sixty Local Celestials at Work in Some Collieries

With the object of helping out the labor situation some of the mine operators in the Edmonton district have been trying out fifty or sixty Chinamen; but so far the experiment has not been found very satisfactory, even as a make-shift arrangement. The Celestials reside in this locality, and apparently their previous avocations have not led to the cultivation of that muscle and brawn that are the requisites of the men who hew out the product that keeps out the winter's cold. But recently, it is the motive back of their employment, and, perhaps they may be continued to be utilized to supply that very essential commodity which every day is becoming increasingly necessary.

HALF MILLION HUNS PUT OUT OF ACTION IN VERDUN REGION

Total Number of German Wounded Captured Exceeds 43,000

Paris, Sept. 1.—Competent authorities estimate that about 500,000 Germans have been disabled in the Verdun region alone since February 21, the beginning of the great German offensive there. The total number of wounded German prisoners taken in the Verdun sector and in the neighborhood of the Somme exceeds 43,000.

"He was posted at Clonsion and resigned his commission in March last, owing to ill health. He was 42 years of age. Col. Gilles saw service in the Indian Medical corps and also went through the Zulu war in 1878. He was author of several medical books. Col. George Carruthers will shortly sail for Canada on sick leave.
